Dear Marc Angelucci

I enjoyed meeting you when you appeared at our Commission For Women meeting and share your concerns about men who are victims of domestic violence and have no place to go.

You have my support for a shelter for men. There are twenty five shelters in Los Angeles County for women. I think the best way to accomplish your goal is to get on the mailing list for the Domestic Violence Council meetings (call (213) 738-3192) and attend the meetings and make a presentation before the Council.

Since men are overrepresented in all our government offices in comparison to their forty nine per cent of the population as well as CEO's of the Fortune 500 companies I would support a Commission for Men if the sole purpose was to establish a shelter for men who are victims of domestic violence.

Good luck in your efforts.

Sincerely,

June Dunbar
